Battery manufacturer GAZ to become member of EU battery association EUROBAT

EUROBAT, the association of European automotive and industrial battery manufacturers, is pleased to announce that the German battery manufacturer GAZ has joined EUROBAT as a regular member.

For more than 135 years on the market, GAZ has proven to be among the first choice in Ni-Cd energy storage thanks to an undisputed quality of batteries – a quality for which German brands are recognized worldwide. Supplemented by an unprecedented customer approach, ongoing extensive investments into production technologies and further development, GAZ battery is a reliable backbone of electrical networks with more than 1,000 new and satisfied returning customers.

Robért Ullmann, Managing Director, commented:

“It is a pleasure for us as a German cell and battery producer to join EUROBAT. We believe in the additional value this connection brings for both us and the association as it is in the core of both our principles to ensure the safe and reliable energy storage and energy grid stability. Based on our knowledge and experience with active masses and battery R&D, manufacturing and distribution across the globe, we are determined to support the activities of EUROBAT and all the other members to provide solutions to some of the most pressing challenges in making our world effectively leverage renewable energy sources while achieving a stable and reliable energy supply.”

EUROBAT Executive-Director, Rene Schroeder, said: “As EUROBAT we are happy to welcome GAZ Batteries as member company. The objective of the EU policy makers must be to expand the industrial base of battery manufacturers in Europe. We will keep working with our members and policy-makers to create framework conditions that allow battery manufacturers to thrive.”
